MEXICAN REBELS KILL AMERICAN

Leader Serves Notice and Says He Will Move On Arrival of Reinforcements—Troops Patroling Streets—Madero Demands Diaz Retirement.

AMERICAN CITIZENS MURDERED.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—The State Department was informed today by Ambassador Wilson that two sons of Judge Melvin Godwin, living in Acapulco, have been killed by Mexican rebels. Foreign Minister De La Barra assured Ambassador Wilson today that the circumstances of the killing would be investigated and reparation made.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—The Cabinet was in session today more than two hours, considering the Mexican situation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—Ambassador Wilson, at Mexico City, telegraphed the State Department today that conditions in the Mexican capital are alarming. The lower classes are becoming more threatening towards Americans and other foreigners. Rebels will march on capital.

MEXICO CITY, Special.—Foreign residents of Mexico City who are unable to leave at the present time are arming themselves in anticipation of an attack upon the city by insurgents.

General Miranda, commanding 300 rebels at Adolfo, has served notice that after the arrival of 3,000 reinforcements he is expecting daily he will open a campaign against the city.

President Diaz is taking stern measures to prevent an uprising in the city, and troops with machine guns are being massed in the Condera district, an eminence commanding the city.

The streets are being patrolled nightly and the slender garisons of defenders is being worked to the utmost in the plans of defense and offense.

Foreigners to Fight.

Captain W. C. Percy, a former member of the Louisiana Legislature, and Major J. C. Douglas are forming a foreign legion for the defense of foreign citizens.

The first open defeat of General Madero by the insurgents concentrating about the city was sustained today in the statement from General Miranda, who declared that he would open a campaign about the national capital, irrespective of the result of the peace negotiations between Madero and the Diaz commissioners near Juarez.

"We have nothing to do with Madero and will not have anything to do with him," declared Miranda. "We shall not cease fighting, even if Madero does sign a treaty of peace. We are here awaiting 3,000 reinforcements who have been operating about Cuernavaca, and when they arrive we shall open a new campaign. Americans in the Mexican cities need have no fear. We do not intend to hurt non-combatants. In fact, we shall afford protection to women and children who are unprotected. Colonel Merino is coming from Tres Marias with a large force. Our men are all well armed and equipped with plentiful provisions."

Anniversary of Puebla.
The anniversary day of the battle of Puebla, for years a national holiday in Mexico, broke today with 30,000 rebels under arms throughout the republic and the capital menaced by the steadily increasing forces of the revolutionaries. Courtiers were quieting reports into the city. They reported heavy fighting in progress around Tres Marias and at El Parque Cuernavaca.

At San Angelo, about eleven miles out, they saw 800 rebels.

Yaupepe, near Cuernavaca, which was captured by the Federals from the hands of revolutionists. The insurgents also hold Ameca.

Private dispatches from Guaymas report that sixty marines landed from the gunboat Tanco to reinforce the fifth battalion of Mexican Federals, which was engaging the rebels on the plain back of the city of Mazatlan, on the west coast, have been captured by the insurgents.

These dispatches advise that all of the officers of Mazatlan had taken refuge on the gunboat and that the city of Mazatlan could not hold out much longer before the rebel assaults.

Foreigners are fleeing into Mexico City in great numbers.

Leave Lower California.
SAN DIEGO, Special.—Insurrectos in Lower California have cut all the wires about Ensenada and are massing their troops about the town, apparently for an assault, according to advices brought here by Diaz agents.

Practically all the foreign residents have fled from Ensenada.

Demand Diaz Retirement.
EL PASO, TEXAS, Special.—This is the demands of the Madero peace negotiations. Both sides have marked time while awaiting an answer from the demands of the Madero peace commissioners that President Diaz officially announce his readiness to resign.

Both the Maderist commissioners and the envoys from Mexico City, however, anticipated that the reply would be a reiteration of the statement previously made by Diaz that he would be willing to retire from office when peace is restored, if his country demanded it. Judge Carbajal asked President Diaz to make this public statement, the insurgents giving notice that they would be satisfied with it. Owing to the interruption of communication between Mexico City and the northern border, it was believed that the message would be delayed and might have to be sent by cable by way of Vera Cruz.

Though the actual negotiations in the "Grove of Peace" are kept secret, it was reported that one concession has been granted by the Diaz commissioners, which will result in Abram Gonzales, Insurrecto Governor of Chihuahua, being retained in that office until Federal recognition if a pact is finally signed.

If this is consummated it would turn over Chihuahua to the Maderists, as Governor Ahumada is only acting Governor, having been appointed temporarily to succeed Enrique Creel. The present armistice expires tomorrow at noon.

to her magnificently furnished home at 58 West Seventy-first Street.

When a reporter called at 58 West Seventy-first Street he was told by a woman who received the caller that the house was the residence of Mrs. Woodend, but that she and her husband were both out of town. When asked as to the report that Mrs. Woodend had been injured while riding in a circus in Brooklyn, the woman said that there was not a word of truth in the report; that Mrs. Woodend had never ridden in a circus; had not been injured, and had not been brought home in an automobile.

A man who knows Mrs. Woodend, stipulating his name must not be used, told a reporter she has been riding with the Ranch 101 outfit throughout the past three seasons—that with her it is not a painful occupation, but a pure fad. She refuses to take any remuneration, but spends large sums in suppers and entertainments for the cowboys and the young women who ride with them in the circus. To most of these the lavish entertainer and dashing horsewoman is known only as "Jennie Howard." But to some others in the show she is known as the wife of the physician whose name she bears, and who was for a long time well known in Wall Street as the senior member of the firm of Woodend & Co., with offices at 25 Broad Street.

The Ranch No. 101 circus is owned by J. C. Miller. He also owns the ranch in Oklahoma, from which the show takes its name and which is reputed to be the largest in the world. One of the attaches of the show, and also of the ranch, said that the devotee of horsemanship would ride thirty days of every month and would have a new costume for every day.

Mrs. Woodend appeared in the arena at several of the horse shows given in Richmond.

TWO ARE KILLED IN POLICE DUEL

Southwest Officers Quarrel Over Which Should Make an Arrest.

MIDDLESBORO, KY., Special.—News reached here today of a duel to the death at Pennington Gap, Va., fought between George Hinkle, Chief of Police of Pennington Gap, and William Short, policeman of St. Charles, Va., late yesterday.

Both men were killed. The killing was the outcome of a dispute as to which of the two should make an arrest. A circus was in town. Hinkle is survived by his wife and several children.

EXPLAINS PROTEST ON POSTAL EMPLOYEES' UNION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—Subjected to a rapid cross-fire of questions, Second Assistant Postmaster Joseph Stewart today appeared before the House Committee on Reform in the Civil Service to explain why the Post-office Department refused to permit its employees to organize a union. Mr. Stewart frankly admitted that the department would approve of no organization in which the heads of the department were not permitted to be members.

Mr. Stewart took issue with members of the committee, who suggested that such a program tended toward bureaucracy.

"HOODOO" DIAMOND BEFORE GRAND JURY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—Trial by a jury in the District Supreme Court of the suit over the famous "Hoodoo" Hope diamond against Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean was ordered today by Justice Barnard.

The court denied the motion by the jeweler for judgment of $180,000, under the answers to the suit by Mr. and Mrs. McLean.

AMERICA HAS TAKEN BACK SEAT.

NEW YORK, Special.—White business conditions in Europe are flourishing, America has become a laughing stock abroad, according to Isaac Guggenheim, the mining millionaire, who arrived here today upon the Cunard liner Lusitania.

"The eternal investigations and politics getting into business is what is troubling us," said Mr. Guggenheim. "With our big crops, and those promised for this year, business in the world should be booming, but instead we are the laughing stock of Europe."

MAD DOG BITES

EIGHT IN NORFOLK

NORFOLK, VA., Special.—Seven children of R. M. Kidd and one child of Captain R. C. Kidd, all residing in Chesterfield Heights, were bitten by a dog several days ago. The head of the animal was sent to Washington, and yesterday word came that the brain showed well-developed rabies.

Health Commissioner Schenck is preparing to treat the children with serum, by which he expects to save them from hydrophobia.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL MURDERED IN HOME

Mysterious Crime Baffles New York Police—Characterized by Strange Features.

NEW YORK, Special.—The police are completely baffled by the mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Anna Muhner, a pretty young bride of eighteen, who was slain in her home, 839 West 234th Street, and Twenty-third Street, by two deep stab wounds in the neck Wednesday night. The crime was discovered by her husband, who called the police from work. Detectives working on the case admit that they had found little as yet to guide them in the hunt for the slayer.

The discovery to which the police attach the greatest significance is the finding of a woman's comb and a black button, which might have been torn from a woman's dress, a short distance from the scene of the crime. This clue, according to the detectives, indicates that a woman was implicated in the crime, if she was not the actual slayer.

A few feet away from the spot where her body was found, the police picked up two tufts of her hair, which had been pulled out by the roots. Her hands were not clenched, and there were no signs that she had struggled. Neither were there any signs of a fight in the room.

Mrs. Muhner's hands lay open, as if she were asleep. Save for the body on the floor and the tiny pool beneath the head the room was in most perfect order. The blood was half dry, showing, as the police contend, that the murder had been committed at least an hour before it was discovered.

Investigating the crime, the police discovered evidence to indicate that the slayer or slayers entered through a rear door of the basement. This door had been forced open. Screws were found on the floor and the lock had been loosened. For years this door had not been used. It had been nailed up and the lock was badly rusted.

What proved most baffling in the case is the entire absence of an evident motive for the crime. There were no signs of a struggle; the apartment was in perfect order. Mrs. Muhner and her husband were apparently perfectly happy; neighbors said they had never quarreled. Neither Muhner nor his bride had any enemies so far as the detectives have been able to learn.

NEW JUROR IN CAMORRA TRIAL

Illness Causes Discharge of Original—Caged Prisoners Shake Fists at Informer.

VITERBO, ITALY, Special.—The first of the provisional jurors in the Camorra trial was called into actual consideration of the evidence against Enrico Alfano and his co-defendants yesterday when Juror Dimaria was discharged on account of illness which has incapacitated him.

The superstitious neapolitans were thrown into high excitement by the announcement as they recalled the dire prophecy of Blanche Baco, the French fortune teller, who visited court at the opening of the trial and predicted that one of the jurors would die before the case came to a close.

President Bianchi, upon being told that Juror Dimaria was too ill to attend the hearing, addressed counsel, saying:

"This is a very important case, and ought to be expedited. Taking advantage of our jury laws, I herewith displace Signor Dimaria as a juror, honorably discharging him from further duty on account of his illness, and appoint the first juror of the provision panel, to take his place."

The provisional jurors sit in court and follow the evidence, so that they are qualified to take the box at any stage of the deliberations. The Camorra bandits and had done better than any lawyer he could have hired. Dietz, on several occasions, has trapped witnesses. One witness, John Hannon, testified that he identified Dietz the man who shot Harry because he was taller than his son, Leslie. Leslie and his father stood side by side and the boy was the taller.

"How much taller am I?" Dietz asked with a grin.

FATAL CRASH ENDS AUTOMOBILE RIDE

NEWBURN, N. Y., Special.—One woman was killed and another woman and a man badly injured in an automobile "joy ride" near here early today. The dead woman is Mrs. Anna Tomer and the injured are Mrs. Port Grant and John Campbell.

The automobile left the road at a sharp curve near Orange Lake and crashed into a stone wall.

Sharply Defined.

Charles Dana Gibson, an authority on feminine beauty, discussed at a dinner in New York the beauty of the English woman.

"I admire," he said, "the English woman's type. Most men, however, do not. She is so lean, you know, with a clean, greyhound leanness. She is like a bay horse in facial training."

"A Japanese diplomat once defined the English woman neatly at a ball in Cavendish Square."

"Comparing the English woman with others," he said, "I find out the former's meat looks much harder."

For the purpose of building a new Pine Camp home for tuberculosis, a series of entertainments is being planned by the Ginter Park Woman's Club. The work of the camp has so increased that the present facilities have become entirely inadequate. The reports from a recent entertainment have been good, and it is expected that the Richmond people will remain responsive.

Chicken Thieves Bait Policeman.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Special.—Policeman Swaim, of Salem, while attempting to arrest two negro chicken thieves yesterday, was knocked down and badly beaten. After making the officer look into the muzzle of a pistol, one negro grabbed Swaim's club and pounded him over the head, inflicting serious injuries. Both escaped.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK RECORDED IN WALES

The shocks began at midnight and lasted periodically until 2 o'clock this morning.

"COTTON CORNER" CASE IN U. S. SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—The transcript of the record in the cotton futures case, in which James A. Ten, E. G. Scales, F. P. Hayne and William P. Brown were indicted for making a corner in cotton, was filed on Tuesday in the United States Supreme Court today by the Government.

Case comes on writ of error from the United States Circuit Court of
